BRIDGE INSTRUCTION BEGINS

Every year something new and different hits Lago High. This year it's the challenging, interesting game of bridge.

Regular bridge classes are now offered for the eleventh and twelfth graders who are interested in this game. At present there are seventeen students who attend the classes conducted by Mr. Wachter at the Junior Esso Club every Thursday afternoon from 4:15 to 5:30. There are about twenty-six students more who are also interested, and classes will be held for them at a later date.

Appointments to the Pan-O-Ram Annual staff were released at a meeting held Friday afternoon in the Library. Heading the staff as co-editors-in-chief are Bill Hellwig and Warren Carroll. They and the other students who showed interest in the new Annual met with Miss Pannevis, the faculty advisor of the 1950 Pan-O-Ram Annual. These students had indicated the Annual as first or second choice on their extracurricular activities questionnaires.

A few details of the organization and make-up of the Annual were discussed. Instead of having the staff elected, Miss Pannevis was given the privilege of appointing her staff. Following is a list of the editors, assistant editors, business, photography, and typing staffs:

CHATTER BOX

Better be careful, Fidge, all cars don't have good brakes.

"Casanova Gibbons is making the rounds now. on me

M. L. M. is meeting competition once again.

The Featherston Twins are starting early with the younger set.

"You're Breaking My Heart" is Ginnie's theme song now.

Hey, D. M., Is it true that every time you go up to C. P. A. you come home without your shirt?

E. J. has a new shadow--A. H. no less! But E. J. shadows M. B. S. Emmette!

Wade is running a taxi service for G. A. and X. S.

How's the "Man Situation" with G. M., E. M., X. S., and S. S.?

It's funny the way Z. F. can't maintain these A's. Does K. W. have anything to do with it?

Poor J. H. has given up the fight for G. J.. Too bad, old boy!

Take it easy, B. Borbonus--one girl at a time!

A certain seventh grade girl seems to be getting mighty chummy with a certain eighth grade boy. Especially at the movies! (Eh, Patti?)

Buddy, make up your mind. Is it Sharon or Nancy K.?

Emmette Jones seems to be so valuable that he has two eighth grade bodyguards!

How did you eighth grade boys like your midnight swim?

ROVING REPORTER

With Thanksgiving practically knocking on our doors, we have been thinking about the delightfully cold weather, the pumpkins stolen from the neighbor's garden, that delicious roast turkey--but wait--you live in Aruba! So, poor souls, maybe there's something you would especially like to do on Thanksgiving, besides, of course, getting the day off from school. Here we have a few suggestions:

Danny Jones: "All I want to do is flirt with girls."

Nancy Chippendale: "Break 100 in bowling, then go home and celebrate by eating the biggest Thanksgiving dinner ever!"

Grace Macrini: "Just loaf! That's what I like to do."

John Borbonus: "Invest a rocket-ship!" (what gives here?)

Emmette Jones: "See a football game."

Penny Richey: "Go to a football game with Emmette!"

Polly Mingus: "Go to a night-club with "somebody special" (and who could this be?)

Bill Hellwig: "Play golf and eat turkey."

Patti Pakozdi: "Fly to the moon!"

Ralph Stahre: "Have the school burn down!"

Mr. Nachter "Get Married!"

Joe Carroll: "Go to the States."

Mary Jean Owen: "Go on a picnic to Palm Beach."

Sally Armstrong: "Eat. Isn't that the best thing to do?"
